

ALEXANDRIA.

FRIDAY EVENING. AUGUST 23.

AN IMPARTIAL and disinterested English jury, after a fair trial, in which, however, the sympathy of the spectators was evident ly with the prisoner, convicted Mrs. Maybrick of the premeditated, deliberate and slow poisoning of her husband, and, as i should have done, sentenced her to be hanged. Against the execution of that sentence nearly all the newspapers in the northern part of this country protested, upon the ground of insufficient evidence and because the prisoner is a woman. And yet not one of the newspapers referred to utter ed a word of remonstrance when, some years ago in this country, another woman, after an unfair trial by a partial and interested military court, in time of peace, and surroundered by enemies, was not only con victed, upon evidence known at the time to be insufficient and suborned, of allowing her house to be used as a place of meeting for men who were planning a murder, but was actually hanged, the jines of brutal spectators rioging to her ears as she was being strangled. The best of human nature is poor and weak, but the worst of it is degusting.

EVERY NOW and then some one of the vensible "working men" of this country opens his mouth and utters words of soberness and truth, which all other American workmen would do well to ponder. Such has recently been the case in Patisburg. where one of them recently said :

"I am a first-class workman and ordinarily would experience no difficulty in getting steady employment at the highest wages Nevertheless, I have been weeks at a time idle while a strike has been procressing or a difficulty pending from no ground of com plaint for my see unt I find that at the bottom of strikes are bad temper, idlenes, and incapacity. The penalty for this has fallen on me, where not a particle of it rightfully belongs. I have not only been kept in idleness on their account, but have had to take from my wid-up money to pay assessments to support them and their fami lies. For myself, I am not willing longer to supply the deficiencies of others. While I am willing to help my unfortunate fellowcraftsmen I am not willing to support the indolent, the mischiel making, and the incapable, with whom many strikes origi-

THE Valley Virginian, republican, says "We know as well as that we have an existence that Mahone's methods will wreck the republican party of Virginia. We know equally well that if they are countenanced and adopted by the administration they will wreck it, and with equal certainty wreck the republican party of the nation."

That such methods as the General used in this city, for instance, to elect his delegates to his convention, are enough to wreck any arty is as well known to every body else as to the editor of the Virginian, and it is high ly gratifying to be informed by such excel lent republican authority of the approach ing wreck, not only of the republican party of the State, but of the nation, for there is no doubt of the fact that the administration approves of the obnoxious methods refer-

THE Valley Virginian, republican, says: "General Mahone loses sight of the fact that there are 15,000 or 20,000 republicans, at least, who voted for Harrison and Morton, who will not touch Mahone with a forty foot pole, and if he will only accept the nomination of his packed caucus a folk, he will find that the result will verify this assertion."

Well, the General has accepted the nomination of his "packed caucus" at Norfolk. But whether the fifteen or twenty thousand republicans referred to by the Virginian will do as that paper says they will, is a matter of great doubt, and will remain so until after the election.

GENERAL MAHONE'S platform declares

"The right to participate fairly in the selection of the representative agent goes to the very bottom of a republican form of government and any invasion of it imperils the liberty of the people."

The child-like and bland game the delegates to the convention from this city played upon the "kickers," in the ward meetings here at which they were elected, must have appeared to them in all its ridiculous grotesqueness when this plank was read, and thrown them into a "conniption" of hilarious amusement.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Being asked what be thought of the approaching election in his 1879, was the restoration of the public credit. State, he replied that in his opinion the If the man whom he named was nominated vote would be close and that no matter how the debt would be settled satisfactorily to some people now talked he supposed that on election day party lines would be pretty well drawn on the State ticket. On the legislative ticket in his city and county, he said, the republicans would be likely to lose many votes if Mr. Hume be the democratic nominee. Mr. Pattison, an old origininal republican, from Lynchburg, here to-day, says Mahone will be defeated by twenty thousand majority. A Loudoun county democrat says the Quakers in his county usually vote the republican ticket, but they will not do so next fall, as General Mahone is not a man after their heart.

The talk on the subject at the several de partments here to-day is to the effect that Gen. Mahone, having accepted the unanimous republican nomination for Governor of Virginia, the administration not only will, but must, do as the Arthur administration did, throw its whole power in the General's favor, and that consequently all the federal offices in Virginia remaining in the hands of the democrate will at once be placed at his

It is learned here that notwichstanding the suspension of the call for a meeting of the Virginia State democratic committee at Lynchburg next week, circulars have been received by several of the prominent democrats of Virginia inviting them to meet in Lyochhurg next Tuesday to confer with the candidates nominated at the recent demo cratic State convention about the manage ment of the Virginia democratic campaign during the month of September. What this means is not understood here, where it was supposed that the arrangements for the booms. Judge Wood was disappointed. "There is not in the United States to-day a man who, if he realizes what has occurred since the war, and has opened his soul to the sight of that which is to come, who will not feel that it is good for all our people that victory crowned the cause which this monument commemorates. I do seriously believe that if we can measure among the States the benefits resulting from the prethe States the benenis resulting from the pre-servation of the Union that the rebellious States have the larger share. It destroyed an institu-tion that was their destruction. It opened the way for a commercial life that if they will only embrace it and face the light means to them a development that shall rival the best attainments of the greatest of our States."

Three persons were killed and thirty eight were injured yesterday in the wreck of the first train to run over the new Knoxville, Cumberland Gap and Louisville Rail-road, at Flat Gap Creek, Tennessee. They included many well-known citizens of Knox-ville. There was a great dearth of doctors and many of the injured had to wait several hours for attendance. It is feared that this fact together with the drenching rain will render the after effects very serious. An inquest will be held to-morrow, but it is believed that the wreck can be attributed to the condition of the road. Two years ago Knoxville subscribed $225,000 towards the construction of the road and the contract period expires to-morrow. It was to show the city authorities that the road was completed that the excursion was given.

Chairman Wood rapped the convention to order at 8 o'clock and called for the report of the committee on credentials, which was made by Brown Allen. There were three contesting delegations, York, Portsmouth and Elizabeth City. Only the Mahone delegates were admitted to seats from York and Portsmouth, and the other contested seats were divided between Mahone and anti-Mahone delegates. The report caused a lively discussion

F. S. Blair presented the report on perma nent organization, which was adopted Chairman, George E. Bowden, of the Sec ond district; Secretary, Asa Rogers, and a vice president from each district, Mr. W.

C. Elam being named from the Eighth. Mr. George E Bowden then took the chair and expressed his gratitude to the convention for the honor it had conferred upon him, and stated that as the night was warm he would not detain the audience by any lengthy speech, but proceed immediately to business.

He then introduced Mr. W. C. Elam, chairman of committee on platform and rea olutions, who submitted the platform, which was greeted with great applause.

The committee also recommended that a committee of ten, consisting of one from each congressional district, be elected to amend the present plan of organization, and fessed numbers Will they avail themselves to certify the new plan to the State chairman to be promulgated by him. They recommended names to carry out the above, and also that the several districts elect five, instead of three, to constitute the State central committee.

In pursuance of the above the following committee was named: First district, J. J.
McDonald; Second, R. A. Wise; Third,
Morgan Treat; Fourth, Wm. Mahone;
Fifth, D. H. Pannell: Sixth, B. W. Bocock; Seventh, E. T. Brayles; Eighth, R. R. Farr

Colonel Lamb then moved that the conernor, which being carried, he proceeded to nominate Gen. Mahone. He disclaimed any desire for the nomination for himself, to nominate a man for Governor whom Vir-Mr. Park Agnew, of Alexaodria, the republican caudidate for Congress at the last he said, had increased 25 per cent. since capital. The nomination was seconded by S. Brown Allen, of Augusta. Other seconding speeches were made by R. A. Harris, colored, of Dinwiddie; Warren Lurty, of Rocking bam ; H. P. Gray, of Rockingbam, and E W. Hubbard, of Buckingham.

Gen. Mahone was then declared the nom inee by acclamation, and the audience rose chearing vociferously. Col. Lamb and Mr. Hubbard were appointed a committee to notify the General of his nomination. The committee returned with the General in twenty minutes. Mr. H. C. Wood presented the General as the next Governor of Vir ginia.

Gen. Mahone acknowledged the honor co red by his party, and, in accepting the trust, said he had never yet refused to obey the will of his party. He would have preferred that some one else should have been nominated, but in accepting the nomination he felt that it meant no faltering or shortcoming, but a fearless and resolute discharge of his duty. He felt assured by the earnest work of the convention that it expected every man to do his duty and relieve the old Commonwealth of Virginia of Bourbon supremathe State, and suggested that the policy of pro-tecting her interests and the settlement of the debt question be urged upon the people on every court green. While democrats wish to let the He alluded to the several interests affecting tariff question drop it shall be pressed on every court green in the Commonwealth. Both the other candidates were withdrawn, and Lurty was nominated.

The convention then appointed the following executive committee, which will have full control of the campaign: William Mahone, Stith Bolling, W. C. Elam, George E. Bowden, and William Lamb. The convention adjourned at 1:45 a. m.

The Eighth district was represented on the committee on credentials by W. J. Thompson, J. F. Jones and J. A. Harris; on organization by J. A. Brooke, E. D. Howe and F. W. Maddox, and on resolutions by W. C. Elam, W. H. Strother and R. R. Farr.

NOTES.

Gen. Mahone was dressed in a black suit ed out from the bosom of his coat, and the peculiar shaped collars and cuffs for which the General is noted, were more conspicuous than ever. Gen. Mahone looked pale and his manner revealed the indisposition he has suffered this week. It is worth mentioning that one of the delegates from Richmond county named Morgan Treat, an open and well known an ti-Mahone man, was on the committee on Groner, the head of the anti-Mahoneites, in the morning. They wanted information on the subject of bolting the convention. Gen. Groner advised them to attend the convention, and they did so as spectators. Treat was the only anti Mahonette of any prominence who appeared on any committee.

John M. Langston, who had been expect ed, and who, it was said, was to make a Ma hone speech, did not appear, but it is none the tees assured that Lange on will give Gen. Mahone no trouble in the Fourth dis trict. Gen. Groner and his friends may work bard to defeat him there, but he has nothing more to fear from Langston.

The Mahone Platform

The following is the platform adopted by The following is the platform adouted by the republican State convention at Norfolk. The republicans of Virginia, in State convention assembled, congratulate the people of the common wealth and the Union upon the happy restoration or republican administration in federal affairs, and resaftrm their devotion to the national republican party and its principles, with their earnest approval of its policy of a protective tariff, which favors and renders necessary the repeal of the existing onerous war taxes of tobacco and fruit brandies, and whereby American labor is secured its best rewards and American production its best markets, while it affords abundant means to pursue the noble scheme of patroitism and statesmanship thrice proclaimed by a republican Senate in the Blair bill, to afford generous aid to the free schools of the State by national appropriations.

The republicans of Virgi-ia, averring their positive Rnowledge that a true return of the polls in the elections of last November would have given the elections of last November would have given the elections of the state to the republican teket, congratulate President Harrison upon his election, despite fraud here and elsewhere, and they promise his administration that hearty support which it has already demonstrated that it well deserves from all good citizens. Confident in their strength and steadily growing in numbers the republicans of Virgina haif the triumph of the national party at the last election as a harbinger of the victory which awaits their own State party in now resolutely taking the field in response to the widespread and still spreading sentiment that demands complete change and reform in the administration of the commonwealth, as the only adequate relief and reparation of evil resulting from democratic ascendancy for the past five years.

Defying the frauds of the democratic managers, they come to name and elect the governor, lieutenant governor, altoracy general and a majority in each branch of the legislature that are to be chosen this y the republican State convention at Norfolk nor, attorney general and a majority in each branch of the legislature that are to be chosen this year, exhorting republicans everywhere to remember.

Pirst—That loval adderence by the Virginia republicans to the republican party of Virginia and its organization is indispensable to harmony and success.

Second—That full recognition of the civil and political equality of this party, its organization and its constitutions by the autional party and administration is an essential condition precedent to such recognition here or elsewhere, by friends or foes, and that this alone can insure internal peace and external respect, while strongly attracting all the elements and constitute permanent power and maintain victories when achieved.

Third—That for success the republican party of Virginia relies upon the allegiance of all Virginia republicans, the cordial recognition due it from its national allies, and the righteousness of its cause, appealing to the people not because it loftly condescends to call itself their, friend, but because it is of the people, for the people, and claims nothing but by and through the people, because it made suffrage free and always respects and defends the popular will and the ballot-box, which the democratic oligarchy despises and defrads, because its oligarchy despises and defrads, because its the scalous friend of the insance of our free school system, now deprived of free books by the hereditary foes of popular education and elevation; because it is the zealous friend of the insance poor, whom it rescues from the jails and poor-houses to which the democratic authorities consign them, and slevation; because it is the zealous friend of the insame poor, whom it rescues from the julis and poor-house to which the democratic authorities consign them, and whose females it shields, East and West from violence and debauchery; because it lightens the burdens of the taxpayers, and practices economy in striking contrast with the extravagance which in the last five years, has squandered on the mere administration of government a million and-a-half of dollars in excess of what four years of republican administration have demonstrated to be necessary therefor; because its 82,000 ex-confederate fathers and sons forcibly tell the disabled ex-confederate, or the widow or orphans of a dead confederate soldler, that sympathy or succer for each and all of them can surely be found in its nanke; because it favors the rights and demands of honest labor, whose wrongs as against convict labor, imported pauper and contract labor, unjust exactions in taxes and road work, combinations of unscrupulous capital, unfail laws, unfair judicial decisions, &c., cry to earth and Heaven for a redress more effectual and speedy that the democratic one of a collection of statistics; because it so for the tiller of the soil as against the extortions of transportations, middlemen, combines, fertilizer frauds and a had road system; because it does not preach hate, prejudice and passion as paramount either in politics business or religion; because it is not on both sides, or no side of any public question, State or federal; because it fulfills its promises, as its ecord in Virginia proves; because it does not declare and the five, because it does not practical farmers to put in political editors, ex-cavalry brigadiers and the like; because it does not practical farmers in official agricultural positions and then turn out such farmers to put in political editors, ex-cavalry brigadiers and the like; because it does not practical farmers in official agricultural positions and then turn out such farmers to put in political editors, ex-cavalry whom it resc vain and false protestations to the contrary; and be cause it alone has shown an honest disposition and a competent chancity to manage this debt because it is folly to hope for a a federal republican policy to prevai unless we are manfully for it in all elections; because it is manifest that this party offers the only free, rightful and peaceful solution of the race and sectional differences which the democrats persistently inflame, and because, in everything State and national, republicanism truly represents the popular aspirations for American progress and prosperity.

Fourth—That we are in favor of the speedy restoration of silver to its full imonetary functions by its full and unlimited coinage at the national mints, and as a step towards such action, we recommend the coinage of the maximum amount now provided for by law—$4,690,000 per month.

$4,00,000 per month.

Fifth—That our party will foster the oyster and fishing interests of our State and protect the natural oyster beds for the sole use of our own people, and will oppose the transfer of these rights to any one, and especially to foreign fishermen, as advocated by President Cleveland in his message on the Canadian treaty.

Sixth—That we are for the repeal of all laws. State land in his message on the canadian treaty.

Sixth—That we are for the repeal of all laws, State and municipal, whereby our farmers and truckers are required to pay special taxes for the sale of their products in the commonwealth.

Seventh—That we proclaim as false the charge that the success of the republican party of Virginia would endanger the social order and civilization of the State and place its ignorance and vice over intelligence and virtue. That our party demands only the security of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for all dwellers in the Old Dominion, and that all shall be allowed to exercise their political, civil and religious relations in accordance with the highest civilization of the age; and, in accordance with the highest crimical of the fige and,

Whereas, There is no other public question which so directly and largely involves the progress and prosperity of Virginia and her people, nor so seriously concerns the good name of this commonwealth, as an honorable and conclusive settlement of the State debt, which the managers of the democratic party for four years have had absolute power and favorable opportunity to do, and have meanwhile contented themselves with measures that have only embarrased the creditors, entrapped many of our citizens into vexatious and costly difficulties, and generally aggravated a situation already intolerable; and tors, entrapped many of our citizens into vexatious and costly difficulties, and gonerally aggravated a situation aiready intolerable; and

Whereas. The policy of those managers in the treatment of this grave and momentous issue has been to postpone and procrastinate, thereby adding millions to postpone and procrastinate, thereby adding millions to the liabilities that hold in mortgage all the property in the State, and which in the end must be met and satisfied; and whereas it is known that there is an opportunity to effect the debt settlement so devoutly desired, therefore, the republican party of Virginia solemnly pledges itself—

Eighth—That if it be entrusted with the necessary power by the people, it will settle the debt, and the debt question wholly, finally and promptly, as it has full knowledge that it can do upon terms that will not add to the annual burdens of the people, and will yet leave the commonwealth ample means for the current expenses of a frugal administration; for a general maintenance of our admirable system of free schools, and for munificent provision for our charitable institutions and the care of our disabled soldiers.

The republican party of Virginia points to its past records as surely for present promise and future fulfillment: more practical tian sentimental it addresses the pockets as well as the patriotism of the people and is sure it is right. It will move straight on to victory, construing the evisive yet abusive cries, catch words and epithets of passion and prejudice, as democratic confessions of wrong and of merited defeat. Peace and good will for all.

of women, Patrick Packenham, Jack Lewis (colored), James Nolan and Ferdinand Carolin, were hanged in the yard of the Tombs prison this morning. There were two scaffolds and two men were hanged on each, Packenham and Nolan were first executed on the scaffold which had been erected on the Franklin street side of the prison. The drop fell at 6:55 o'clock. Eight minutes later Lewis and Carolin were banged from the scaffold on the Leonard street side. The banging of Carolin and Lewis in several respects is probably unparalleled. The two murderers at 6:45 o'clock received the last spiritual consolation. At 2 minutes after 7 clock the two, with the priests, walked to the scaffold. Caro'in had the butt of a cigar between his lips and was puffing vigorously, blowing great clouds of smoke into the faces of the attending priests. His face was as pale as the face of the dead and the scowl upon it almost demoniscal. He glared at the priests as he turned around and felt the rope touch his shoulder. Spitting the cigar stump from his mouth he broke out into blasphemy that horrified the spectators. Atkinson had just pinioned his legs when he spoke. Looking sullenly at the pries's be suddenly exclaimed : "I die an innocent man. G-d d-n it, I didn't do this thing." Lewis, who had then been pinioned, half turned his head, and addressing his companion said: "What's the matter with you any way? Why don't you die like a man?" "I will die like a man," shricked Carolin, his face turning perfectly livid. "I will die like a man. I am inpocent." The words were scarcely out of his mouth before Atkinson had clapped the black cap over his face. The assistant bangman covered Lewis's face at the same moment. Atkinson gave the signal and the weight fell. Instead of bounding up as Packenham and No an had done the miserable wretches went into the air with so little force that there was scarcely any rebound at all. Lewis immediately began to struggle in the most sickening manner. He threw his i-gs about so violently as to kick . If his sappers. Then he began to gurgle and choke. The rasping wherzy sound came from under the borrible black cap for fully ten seconds. His body turned and swayed, and the contertions were so painful that half a dezen men turned away their heads. The poor creature was slowly strangled. Carolin's body was violently contorted also, but he uttered no round. The weight fell at 7:03 o'clock and at 7:10 both men were dead. The four bodies hung for half an hour and were then cut down and placed in coffine. All four were strangled. Patrick Packenbam killed his wife last March.
